Digitzone PDF to PNG Converter is an application with a name that pretty much describes its purpose - it allows you to transform PDF documents into PNG images. It can be easily used by novices. The interface of the program is plain and simple to work with. PDF documents can be imported into the list by using either the file browser or "drag and drop" method. Batch processing is allowed. In the queue you can read the source path and size of each file. So, once you establish the output destination, you can proceed with the conversion task.

But you can also specify the page range, rotate and resize pictures, set post-task actions (e.g. delete or move converted PDFs), select the resolution, color depth and image name template, and others. The simple-to-use software requires a pretty low amount of system resources (which is barely noticeable), has a good response time, quickly finishes a task and delivers a very good image quality. We haven't come across any technical problems during our tests. On the other hand, there is no help file available and the interface needs some improvements, since it's outdated. Plus, the unregistered version places a watermark on the output images. Nevertheless, we strongly recommend Digitzone PDF to PNG Converter to all users.

Version: 1.3 File Name:

DigitzonePDF-PNGConverter.exe

File Size: 8.42 MB Windows XP The first step in this process is getting

Digitzone PDF to PNG Converter to prepare for the conversion task. The manual execution of the program is easy. You just have to select the folder with the PDF files, and click on "Convert" button. As the first result, you will be asked to name the new files. So, you can use the buttons

"Naming Options", "Export All Files",

"Export Selected Files" and "View All Files" to create the required file names. The software will perform a conversion job, and when it's over, you can start analyzing the results. There are various viewing options, so you can see the overall structure, as well as the content of the files, in addition to choosing the desired view (e.g. zoom in, zoom out, rotation, etc.). As a "post-task action", you can easily remove old files, convert the new files or even copy them in another folder. The file lists

Converter is an application that helps you transform PDF documents into DOC files. In addition to allowing you to specify the source PDF, template, destination, layout and page order, the program also allows you to make changes in your DOC files. The interface of the software is easy to work with. You can import a document from the file browser or even drag and drop the PDF file. It is not necessary to be familiar with the program's working method to use the application, since the interface is intuitive. Pressing the "Start" button opens the import dialog, which is divided into two sections. In the left side, you can choose the source PDF; in the right side, you can select the document's layout and page order. Once you set your preferences, you can proceed with the conversion task. After the conversion task is done, you can preview the results in the main window and edit the text. Some options are available from the application's configuration menu, such as the following: set the document's resolution, margins, color scheme, title, author, etc. It's important to note that digitalpiper

PDF to Doc Converter comes with the standard free version of DOCX. The software does not have any restrictions. In addition, you can't purchase a license key for it. If you like the program, there's no need to spend a dime. What's New in
